

SOLAN HARMONY

HOME ECONOMICS

They are repurposing old clothes by transforming them into new, usable items. This activity helps them develop practical skills that can be applied in everyday life. It also boosts their creativity, as they learn to envision new designs and figure out how to bring those ideas to life.

Some of the items they have created include pouches, bags, a stuffed toy shirt, a drink bottle pouch, and more .

ENGLISH

We began preparing for the English presentation. We're organizing a festival where everyone can enjoy playing games from various countries.

The students interviewed the English teachers about their countries and the games they play there. It was great to see how their confidence in speaking has grown during these interviews. Some students not only asked questions but also actively listened, commented, and engaged in the conversation.
