Back to School

Welcome back, everyone! It feels great to be back in the classroom and see all of your familiar faces after a nice summer break. There are several busy months ahead so I hope you all had a relaxing time and are feeling recharged and ready.

Over the next few months, we will be tackling some exciting new projects that will require a lot of teamwork and creativity.

We'll focus on honing our research skills, improving our presentations, and finding new ways to approach challenges. It's a great opportunity to put our skills to the test and see what we can build.

Looking ahead, this week I spoke with you about the possibility of studying abroad. I was pleased to see how many of you showed interest!

While it's still early to make any final decisions, I hope you'll keep thinking about it. A long-term goal like studying abroad can be motivating and help make the reason for studying English feel even more clear.

We will value "Purpose" and "Ownership" for you
