Let's get down to business!

Welcome to the new school year! This year we are planning to push your students to try new things and become confident English users. In the first week, the students have tried a reading test, talked about what makes a good class with good teachers and students, and made their own goals for what they want to do in English this year.

In English Team Inquiry, previously known as English Project, the students discussed what they did last year, what we can do to make a deeper project, and how we can make English more relevant to them through iPad applications and creative work.

We will be having the students do book reports this year to prepare them for junior high school inquiry as well as improve their reading comprehension, listening, writing, thinking skills, and presentation skills. We will also have spelling and reading worksheets available for self study this year.
