On the Road to English Presentation!!

Hello, everyone, and welcome back from summer vacation!

We have hit the ground running yet again and will be on a crash course until English Presentation day on Friday, September 18. To prepare the students for their presentations we have been working on all the different aspects of the presentation in both English class as well as English Team Inquiry.

In English class, we are working hard on learning the important grammar point of “have to~” and its question form as well as vocabulary needed for everyday items. The students are using this information to help them use their critical thinking skills for what they have to do in their everyday lives as well as in special circumstances like what they have to bring on a camping trip or ski trip. The students will be using this grammar and vocabulary in a later English Team Inquiry where they will share their skills with one another and younger students as well.

In English Team Inquiry, we are winding down on our first project of the year. The students are becoming more and more excited to share their projects with you on Presentation Day. They have learned many new skills, including animation and coding in the Rooms Application. They started this project knowing animal names and will be ending it knowing more about the problems animals and our environment face.

We hope that you are as excited to watch as we are to share!
